Perific offers products and services for power measurement, power control, and load balancing of major energy consumers in buildings. "Measuring and controlling power consumption is crucial for creating balance in the electricity grid and enabling the green transition of our society. In this work Perific's products and services play a central role", says Pelle Mattisson, CEO of Latour Future Solutions AB.

"With Latour as an industrial growth partner, we will increase the pace of our European expansion and contribute to a more efficient energy system in additional markets", continues Perific's founder Tomas Öquist and CEO Gustav Dafnäs.
